

Things to Do

Art Museum of West Virginia University

<https://artmuseum.wvu.edu/>

The Art Museum provides a welcoming and stimulating educational environment for diverse audiences to experience the transformative power of visual art. By exploring the varied artistic traditions of different cultures, past and present, visitors gain a better understanding of themselves, their communities, and their world.

Open Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday 12:30-4:30 pm. Thursday 3:30-7:30 pm Closed West Virginia University holidays.

Coopers Rock State Forest

<http://www.coopersrockstateforest.com/>

12,968-acre forest with campsites, hunting, fishing, hiking, biking, rock climbing, mountain biking and cross-country skiing. Not only a great place for rock climbing... Coopers Rock State Park also has nearly 50 miles of trails that wind through the forest. One of our more popular trails, Henry Clay Iron Furnace Trail takes you on a trip back in time. As you round the last bend of the trail, you find a huge stone structure used for producing iron in the 1800's. It is located in a grassy glade in an otherwise undisturbed forest.

The WVU Core Arboretum

<http://arboretum.wvu.edu/>

The WVU Core Arboretum is an outdoor facility for education, research, and recreation. We welcome visitors every day, from dawn to dusk.

The WVU Core Arboretum is located on a 91-acre tract of hillside and bottomland near the WVU Coliseum, between Monongahela Boulevard and the Monongahela River. The Arboretum has 3 miles of foot trails, lawns with planted trees and shrubs, old growth forest on hillside and floodplain sites, interpretive signs, trailside benches, a small amphitheater, and an information kiosk. Free parking for visitors is available at the Arboretum parking lot or the WVU Coliseum parking lot.

Family-owned vineyard and winery. Open for tours and tastings with and outdoor pavilion.

Morgantown History Museum

<http://morgantownhistorymuseum.org/>

The Morgantown History Museum is a nonprofit institution and the first city-sponsored museum in the Greater Morgantown area. Its mission is to preserve and promote local and regional history and to make it accessible to the citizens of Morgantown and visitors to the region. Located at 175 Kirk Street.

Seneca Center

<http://www.senecacenter.com/>

Brick-lined walls and worn wooden floors greet visitors as they wind their way through the assortment of privately owned specialty shops. Much of the character of the building has been richly retained, intermingling classic yet distinctive merchandise with warm hospitality. Constructed in 1898, the center boasts authentic glass manufacturing tools and murals of the glass making process. The towering 100-foot glass furnace chimney still stands on the property.
